

INDEX TO 1978 APSA CONVENTION PAPERS ON MICROFILM

Kenneth Janda and Paulette Jacobson

Northwestern University

This film contains the Official Program of the 1978 Annual Meeting of the American Political Science Association, 361 papers delivered at the Meeting, and three computer-generated indexes to help locate papers on the film. Not all papers listed in the Official Program were filmed for two reasons: some papers listed were not actually delivered, and some of those delivered were not submitted to the APSA Convention Coordinator for filming--especially those given on panels organized outside the jurisdiction of the Program Chairperson, Elinor Ostrom. Our coverage is nearly complete for 308 papers delivered at the 129 panels under the 16 sections organized by Professor Ostrom and regarded as the core of the convention. Four papers given at other Official APSA Committee Meetings and 49 presented at meetings of Unaffiliated Groups listed as a courtesy in the Official Program were included because their authors voluntarily supplied copies for filming, whereas copies were requested from authors on the core panels.

The material is organized on film as follows: the indexes precede the Program which precedes the papers, filmed in alphabetical order by author. There are three types of indexes. The first is an author-alphabetized list of all the papers on the film. The second is a list of papers by program panels and includes only those under the 16 sections. The last is a list of all papers by the key words in their titles.

Users looking for papers by known authors should consult the author-alphabetized index to see if the paper is listed, meaning that it is on the film. Then they may proceed directly to locate the paper in alphabetical order on the appropriate reel. Users seeking papers on given topics have two options: (1) They might consult the panel index to identify papers under the topics of their choice, or (2) they might consult the key word index to identify interesting titles. In either event, they can then proceed to locate papers by reference to the first-named authors.
